We learned how to etch leaves onto paper and make cool designs 😊

This is what we learned this week:

- We explored ways to build a device to communicate over a long distance and modeled it.
- Then we evaluated and explained strengths/weaknesses of our creations and what we would change to make them better.
- We love our OSMOs and use them daily.
- Weebly- I will be updating it this weekend with a lot of pictures.
- We talked about fire safety and making escape plans.
- On our walk to the library we got a special candy treat from the nice ladies at the Philharmonic and Canterbury Voices.
- I introduced dominoes and we practiced addition/subitizing (seeing dots/objects and recognizing number quantities quickly by seeing patterns).

Agendas

Please help your child read each night. 20 minutes of them reading to you is recommended. They also should hear you read to them for fluency and then be able to recall problem/solution in the story, characters, setting, and sequence events/details.
